Changing the Future of Leadership

THE SHEPPERD LEADERSHIP INSTITUTE HAS MOVED!

The staff of the John Ben Shepperd Public Leadership Institute has spent the last few weeks preparing for our move from the UTPB Mesa Building to the Presidential Museum on the south side of the UTPB campus. On Monday, August 30th, the movers came, and we are finally in our new home away from home! While we are still in the process of unpacking, the construction and the major move has been completed. The photos here offer a small taste of the progress throughout the project.

"Whatever good things we build, end up building us."

-Jim Rohn

"When one has finished building one's house, one suddenly realizes that in the process one has learned something that one really needed to know in the worst way - before one began."

-Friedrich Nietzsche

The new location offers several benefits:

- Increased visibility and traffic for the Shepperd Institute
- Meeting space for our Advisory Council
- Easier parking for our visitors
- Partnership opportunities with the Presidential Museum

As you may know, the Presidential Museum houses the John Ben Shepperd, Jr. Leadership Library. We anticipate hosting a number of seminars and workshops there, focusing on a variety of topics including Presidential leadership and history, public service, educational leadership, and community involvement.

Of course, there will be challenges accompanying the move and we have tried to anticipate many of these and have developed a contingency plan for most of them. Our physical address will change, but the phone numbers, e-mail
