Leadership Thoughts:

Collaboration for Success

Midland - Odessa Into the New Millennium...Together

This summer, the John Ben Shepperd Public Leadership Institute plans to bring an extra Distinguished Lecture Series with a focus that is closer to home. Join us as Midland Mayor Wes Perry and Odessa Mayor Larry Melton discuss how we can all help to build a better community through cooperation and how our communities can work together and approach 2020 with a clear vision.

Each city has a rich and impressive history of leadership. The Institute's goal for this discussion is to foster a spirit of collaborative leadership that will benefit both cities now and in the future.

Former Odessa Mayor, Lorraine Perryman will join former Midland Mayor (and current JBS Director) Bobby Burns to moderate this exciting event.

Date: August 7th, 2008

Time: 7 PM

Location: CEED Building
Auditorium

A New Generation of Leaders

Later this month, several of Texas' best and brightest high school students will come to the UT-Permian Basin campus to take their leadership skills to the next level. The participants will hear great speakers, engage in a number of team-building activities, and explore their leadership skills and abilities.

Check back next month for a report on this year's camp!
